2018-19 BUDGET SEASON UNDERWAY

Governor Tom Wolf's budget address on February 6 was positive and promising. Rep. Sturla supports his proposed efforts, which would help move Pennsylvania forward.

Highlights include:

- Providing an additional $225 million to improve education for every student, including $100 million for basic education, $20 million for special education, $30 million for Pre-K Counts and $10 million for Head Start.
- Launching PAsmart, a $50 million initiative to better align workforce development efforts across state agencies.
- Increasing the minimum wage from $7.25 to $12 per hour, joining all neighboring states with wages higher than the federal minimum wage.
- Investing $25 million in state funds, matched with $5 million in federal funds, to expand access to high-quality child care.
- Continuing to address the opioid abuse epidemic with $33 million.
- Proposing an additional $74 million for services for individuals with intellectual disabilities and autism, including $16 million to enroll 965 more individuals to receive services.
- Assessing a $25 per capita fee on municipalities without local police coverage, a policy initiative strongly advocated by Rep. Sturla.
- Targeting $300 million over the next five years for road and bridge construction and maintenance.
- Enacting a modest, price-sensitive severance tax, as Pennsylvania is the only natural gas producing state without such a tax.
